FIRST SUNDAY OF ADVENT MORNING MESSAGE
REVEREND EDWARD DUNN

The season of Advent is a time for preparation. Many of us have begun the work of preparing for Christmas – decorating, baking, wrapping, and all the other “i n g’s” of the season. It’s a time of familiarity in many respects, or maybe we should call them traditions. We use grandma’s chocolate chip cookie recipe; or there’s a particular ornament that goes in a special place on the tree.

Our preparation for Christmas begins this Sunday with the Hanging of the Greens service.

Let me tell you...planning this kind of service has been tremendous fun to plan and experimental for this pastor who has never never led a Hanging of the Greens worship service before. We’ll be reading scripture and hearing words about the decorations of this season. I hope you’ll join us Sunday and I hope you’ll learn something new and if necessary, teach the pastor a new thing or two as well.

Blessings,
Edward
